Bank of Marlinton
Capital and Surplus $126,000.00

At a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday, with all the members present, it was definitely decided to build an addition to the Marlinton school building. The addition will be directly behind the present building, and will be about 36X54 feet in size, and of brick. This will give two school rooms on the ground floor with a fine large chapel hall above. The board is not a little handicapped in the work by the limit of levy. They believe in making improvements only of a permanent character, and the addition is planned with that end in view. An effort will be made to have the auditorium completed by the latter part of August, to accommodate the teacher's institute and to be in readiness for the next term of school. The Board especially and the District generally feel a pride in the good school maintained at Marlinton.

We are in receipt of a letter from J. H. Kellison, of Lucerne, Missouri. He was raised in Pocahontas, but moved away 27 years ago. He was back 8 years ago and visited Marlinton and thought it a nice town. He likes that part of Missouri in which he lives and says it is a fine country, hard to beat for grass and grain; lots of cattle feed on corn. Cows are selling for $50. to $75. per head. Mr. Kellison "has a little farm of 280 acres" which he has paid for with money made in the West. Land in his section is worth $50. to $75. per acre. He renews his subscription to the Times and says he likes the paper.

The McCoy lands embracing 13,800 acres of timber land on Alleghany mountain on the headwaters of Siltington creek, has been sold to John J. Hite, a well known coal man of Fairmont. The deferred payment was $112,000. The full consideration was not stated in the deed. The owner of the land, James McCoy, has recently died.

Geo. L. Hannah brought over a fine wild turkey gobbler, which he caught last fall. It with a fine wild hen raised by G. P. Baxter, will be shipped to Warren R. Leach, Rushville, Illinois.

Geo. W. Beverage lost a very valuable Jersey cow by being foundered this week.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Wesley Perkins, watchman of an engine for the W. Va. Spruce Lumber Company, was killed at Spruce last Friday night. A part of his duties was to fill the oil cans of the engine, and he had run the engine to the sand house for this purpose. The oil barrel stood on the platform, and in getting out the oil he pulled the barrel over on him, catching his head between the falling barrel and a knuckle joint on the running gear of the engine. His skull was crushed and death is supposed to have resulted almost instantly. About five o'clock Saturday morning Italian laborers going to work discovered his body. The doctor ascertained he had been dead about four hours when found. Squire A. E. Smith was notified and he held an inquest. The verdict was in accordance with the above facts. Wesley Perkins was a native of Webster county and was about 24 years of age. He was unmarried. His body was taken home for burial.

TOWN SAVED TO COUNTY

The Flynn Lumber Company, which owns an immense boundary of timber land on Spice Run and Davys Run, on the line between Greenbrier and Pocahontas, is at work building their plant and town on land bought of W. J. Roderick at Spice, the Joe Perkins place. The town and mill is wholly in Pocahontas, though but a few hundred yards from the Greenbrier line. At first it was proposed to build on the Cochran bottom, over the Greenbrier line. The change will greatly benefit Pocahontas as it will add many thousands of dollars to the taxable property, and be one of the largest and best lumber operations on the Greenbrier Division.

CIRCUIT COURT

Circuit court convened Tuesday afternoon, Judge Dice being detained by the death of his sister's husband, a Mr. Peachey, in East Virginia. The grand jury completed its labors and was dismissed this morning. Nearly forty indictments were returned. A number of misdemeanor cases have been tried. Court will probably adjourn Saturday, though Judge Dice will be here Monday and Tuesday to hear chancery matters.

Among the attorneys from a distance to attend court are C. J. Turk of Staunton; C. P. Dorr, Washington; E. D. Talbott, Elkins; Chas. Alderson and G. W. McClintic, Charleston; C. W. Csenton, Fayetteville.

SHOW A-COMING

All day Tuesday the busiest man town was F. M. Heaton, advance agent of Sparks' World Famous Shows. He was like a will-o-the-wisp, now here, now there, making contracts and arranging for the coming of the great circus. The Sparks shows as they will appear here this year rank among the leading circuses of the country. It is claimed to have a solid train of more than a dozen cars, over three hundred people and over two hundred animals, both foreign and domestic.

The show employs over fifty people in the department of publicity alone and from now on until show day the county for twenty miles around will be given a thorough billing and if the weather is at all favorable April 26th Marlinton will have to entertain an immense crowd on that day.

All this week is a legal holiday in banking circles by proclamation of the Governor in order to protect the bankers in the flood district.

AN OLD LANDMARK

The kitchen of the McLaughlin house, the oldest building in town, is being torn down. It was built not less than seventy-five years ago.—News Item.

As this ancient landmark we did raze its workmanship commanded praise; What carpenter would this day dare Hew out such logs as slumbered there, With mortice - tenon make akin, And bind it all with wooden pin. The hewn out rafters, all well stayed By iron nails that were hand made. What pioneer did crudely draw A plan like this without a flaw? The big rock chimney built with pride With fire place just six feet wide; The jamb rocks of the best sand stone To roll them back made strong men groan.

There were the iron bar, the hooks, Where often have the old time cooks Hung pots of ven'son and of bear For hungry mouths that waited there; We even found the iron fork That turned the roasts of beef and pork; A buck-horn butcher knife home made Its metal of the best of grade. How many persons there have sat Around the hearth rock big and flat How many tales by hunters bold By this great fire place were told; How many six-foot back logs here Have made it cheerful year by year; And sweetened pone and ash-cake mound That smooth old hearth stone there had browned;

And mantle piece that stood so high, And trusty rifle racks close by; All emblems of that by gone day When people lived a different way. There yet remained the scuddle hole Where up the ladder grandma stole, Into the attic's scanty helgh. And scanty too was all her light; There she was princess of that room, All day a weaving on her loom.

Some class to this old relic sure, A masterpiece of furniture; One man said, as he stood and gazed, A windlass by which these logs were raised; But I had heard the shuttles click And to his query answered quick, This is a mighty old time loom Which wove the cloth for bride and groom. When people lived not half so fast In happier days the long have pass'd when children all wore shirts of tow, with homespun stockings down below The men and boys in their warm jeans were not half dressed by any means; A linsey shirt and roundabout A dozen suits now would wear out. Also a dozen women now To equal then one old time frau; And it would take a dozen more To look as good as one of yore, For they had health and mother wit, and always made their clothes to fit. Yes, all these relics that we found On this time honored stamping ground Recall the memories of a past.

What was too faded bright to last. M. L. J.

Marlinton, W. Va.

Miss Hattie E. McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell McLaughlin, of the Savannah neighborhood, near Frankfort, this county, after a lingering illness, departed this life at her father's home on Thursday, March 13, 1913, aged 25 years, 11 months and 13 days. She leaves her father and mother, two sisters and four brothers. She had been an invalid for six years, suffering with a disease, the nature of, and the control of which baffled the skill of the best physicians. Through all her sickness she had an abiding faith in Jesus as her Saviour. She was a member of the Frankfort Presbyterian church. All things work together for good to those that love God. God's thought for his people concerning the mysteries that sometime surround them it this world is expressed in these words: "What I do thou knowest not, but thou shalt know hereafter." After funeral service at the home conducted by Rev. J. L. Lineweaver, assisted by Revs. J. W. Rosenberger and R. C. Meeks, her mortal remains, amidst many floral tributes, were laid to rest in Frankfort cemetery.—West Virginia News.

Mr. William Makowicz, for many years a resident of this city, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. G. McWhorter, in Charleston, on Wednesday morning, March 26, 1913, aged about 87 years. His death was caused by heart trouble. Deceased was a native of Poland, but came to this country many years ago. He is survived by four children—three daughters and one son. The funeral services will be held at the residence of Mrs. L. Makowicz tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.—W. Va. News.

J. H. Buzzard was the heaviest loser in the flood of last week. Beside having sixty-five sheep and a cow and calf drowned, he lost much fence and had his place badly washed.
